“For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the Lord, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.” Jeremiah 29:11

Jeremiah 29:11 is often quoted as a simple promise of success or prosperity. Yet, in context, these words were spoken to God’s people while they were in exile in Babylon. God’s promise was not instant comfort, but faithful hope: he had not forgotten them, and his purposes would be fulfilled in his time.

In a smaller way, your time of vacancy has been a season of waiting and trusting. Yet you have continued to serve, worship, and share the gospel faithfully. Now, as this new chapter begins, we give thanks that God hears prayer, guides his people, and gives hope for the future.

Martin.
